

What a Computer might dream about?

What a computer might dream about? Maybe fearing the worst Black-Out. Keeping a watch on memory status Or fighting with a dreadful virus Cursing its impatient user

Or meeting a new web browser Hoping for a software update Before the old one is out-of-date Having coffee with an iphone Just you and me all alone Choosing a new wallpaper

Or playing minesweeper

Being proud after defeating masters at chess Feeling sad for being thoughtless

Hanging out with Google Using a wireless dongle Finding out smallest error Or fixing a crashed server

Fearing a problem in the hardware, Even though it is very rare.

Many say that a computer cannot think,
But can solve a gazillion problems just in a wink. Although it might be sleepless,
But its dreams are limitless.

-Sahil Bondre
(Age: 14 summers)